

ABSTRACT

5 (022) A method of processing fresh garlic to remove the characteristic odor it produces after ingestion is described. The method includes the steps of saturating the garlic in a water-based fluid and then thawing the garlic.

10